Gamification

Gamification is a concept used by several firms to use mechanics and game designs to digitally involve candidates interest in a role.

Here are our top tips:

- The games do not require any skills to complete, but they are used to give everyone an equal chance of performing well by measuring personality and not skill
- Every company uses different games to assess specific traits
- Read the instructions carefully
- Do play somewhere quiet, the games take approximately 30 minutes and can assess over 40 personality traits”
